

Registration for the 2016 Human Service Summit on June 14 is now open

The theme of the 2016 Human Service Summit is "Reducing Poverty and Creating Opportunity: Expanding Income and Employability." At last year's Summit, we issued a call-to-action to reduce poverty in Johnson County.

Partners across the human service sector came together to create opportunity for low-income individuals and families in the areas of employment, education, and the safety net.

This year, the Summit will share accomplishments in these areas and future plans to address poverty. We will then take a closer look at employment as local experts share future job growth and availability projections for Johnson County and the region. Summit attendees will discuss the employment needs and concerns of their clients, and brainstorm opportunities to increase access to good jobs. This conversation will inform how our community will continue to reduce poverty and create opportunity by ensuring that local residents can sustain their households through employment.
